THE NEW LUXURY

Robb Report - the global luxury media brand.

“Luxury is not about showing off – and certainly not about participating in a competition to outdo others. True moments of luxury are inward-looking: they are about doing something good for yourself – in a way that refines, intensifies and enriches your own life.

Those who live a life of luxury want to understand: why is something good? What makes it special? How does it fit into my life? Luxury is a question of connoisseurship – informed, conscious enjoyment. At Robb Report Germany, we work according to this principle: we want to impart knowledge, provide guidance and inspire. For people who approach their leisure time with the same commitment to excellence with which they pursue their projects and goals – with a focus on what lasts: quality, experience, style.

Robb Report is published in 18 countries worldwide. As a member of this global family, we tell stories about the good life that are truly worth reading – from all over the world, for our readers in Germany, Austria and Switzerland.”
